

If Youth But Knew

BY IRVING FISHER,
Professor of Economics, Yale University

It was nearly 30 years ago when I suddenly discovered that I had ruined my health by wrong posture, wrong diet, indoor and sedentary work and many other errors of living. My ignorance and negligence took nearly six years out of my life. If I had only known in time what I learned through those six bitter years, I do not doubt that I could have saved my life and lived and worked beyond the century mark.

PROF. FISHER

At first I thought I was an exception, that the world in general did not make such mistakes. Then I found that every train falling into Colorado Springs from the East brought fresh victims of the same ignorance and neglect.

Still I thought those were all exceptional people.

Then I began to inquire of my "healthy" friends. To my amazement I found practically every one of them in some more or less important way, of which he told me in confidence, while concealing it from the world in general.

Found Institute

I began to suspect that neither I nor my companions in misery in Colorado were really very exceptional, but that the whole world was nursing little and hidden, each person imagining his own troubles to be exceptional.

This suspicion that the whole world is sick was fully confirmed when, with a few fellow enthusiasts, Mr. Ley and Dr. Fleck in particular, I helped to found the Life Extension Institute. The Institute has physically examined many groups of workmen, clerks, etc., who cannot be said to be in exceptionally bad health. On the contrary they are exceptionally well; for the very fact that those groups consist of workmen, means that they exclude all who are ordinarily called sick and unable to work.

Yet the Institute finds over 90 per cent of those people suffering from imbalances.

"If Youth but knew! If they knew thoroughly they could care, and if they cared they would never live the average disease-producing life. They would not smoke if they knew what tobacco was doing to their nerves, blood and vital organs; much less would they use alcohol. They would get more sleep and sunlight, keep out doors, wear lighter, whiter, looser and more porous clothes, eat harder food, less meat, fish and fowl, less sugar and white bread, more milk, more bulky, raw and hard foods, eat slower, eliminate the food residues more promptly and frequently, stand, sit and walk more erect and be less lonesome and worried over trifles.

If Youth Could—The cumulative results of all these and other little changes is always wonderful, even for those who, like myself, had already ruined their health. Few people of my age are in better health than I am today, simply because I did learn these lessons and it seems "never too late to mend."

If youth could only begin their knowledge where their parents left off, could profit by all past experience instead of having to learn all over again in their own experience, the results would add to the happiness of the world so greatly that some of us who know this, would gladly lay down our own lives if thereby, youth could but know.

JAY BAKER WILL HAVE CHARGE OF DEPARTMENT

Fruit and Produce Stall Will Occupy Room with United Market Co.

Fruit and produce department of the new market to be opened in the Barnhart Building in February by the United Market Co., will be handled by Jay Baker, it was announced today.

Baker's fruit and vegetable market, now at 124 W. Central, will be moved into the room taken over by the United Market Co. The fruit and vegetable section will occupy a large space in the front of the new market and will be operated by Baker.

Baker opened his market at the present location nearly a year ago. His new location will give him nearly double his present floor space, and will mean an increase in the stock carried. Baker said today that fruits and vegetables of all kinds will be handled, many of them never carried before by local markets. The space given over to fancy products, not generally carried by dealers here, will be a large one.

CHIROPRACTORS AGAIN SEEKING OWN EXAMINERS

Bill Introduced in House Authorizing Donahay To Name Board

Columbus, Jan. 25—Ohio Chiropractors today are renewing their efforts to induce the Ohio Legislature to enact a law providing for a separate state board of chiropractors.

Despite the fact that unsuccessful attempts were made repeatedly during the past decade to have the Buckeye State solons pass such a bill, a measure, initiated by petition, in accord with the initiative and referendum provisions of the Ohio constitution, was introduced in the house late Thursday authorizing appointment by the governor of a state board of chiropractic examiners, consisting of three qualified chiropractors.

This board, aided by an entrance examiner, would be empowered to examine applicants for license as chiropractors on the second Monday of June and December each year. The bill fixes the license fees and authorizes the proposed board to revoke, or suspend, license. Persons practicing without a license could be fined from $25 to $50 and imprisoned in the county jail, or workhouse, from 30 days to one year.

Legislators again are being urged to try to solve the problem of obtaining a site and constructing a state office building. A bill, by Representative Herbert Morgan, Cleveland, seeks to empower the state building commission to acquire a site for a state office building directly opposite the state house grounds on S. Third-st. here.

About a year ago plans went for naught when the state industrial commission, because of ambiguities in the law, refused to let the state building commission use state insurance funds with which to buy the S. Third-st. site. The Morgan bill authorizes use of not to exceed $5,000,000 from the state teachers' retirement system's funds in erecting the proposed office building, paying into the teachers' retirement system fund $250,000 annually to be applied on the purchase price of the building in addition to an annual rental.

Upon enactment by the state of the total amount thus borrowed, exclusive of the interest on the money, the retirement board shall transfer title and ownership of the building to the state.

Both the senate and house recessed late Thursday until 7 p. m. Monday.

Upon reconvening, the house will take up for consideration the joint resolution, offered by Representative Henry Ball, Portsmouth, providing for appointment of a joint legislative committee to investigate state departmental affairs with a view to recommending to the next session plans for greater economy and proposed changes in the Davis reorganization act, passed in 1921 during the administration of former Governor Harry L. Davis, Cleveland, which reorganized state departments.

OHIO CRIMINAL CODE REVISION RECOMMENDED

Common Pleas Judges Urge Donahay To Appoint Non-Partisan Board

Columbus, Jan. 25—Governor Donahay today was considering the appointment of a commission to study and revise the Ohio criminal code following a resolution adopted Thursday by the Ohio Common Pleas Judges' Association, recommending such action.

The judges asked for a non-partisan commission which would function without compensation, and whose members would include at least one layman. Recommendation was made that preliminary challenges for the defense in first degree murder cases be reduced from 10 to 8, and that county prosecutors be authorized to assume control before any municipal court, justice of the peace or mayor in their own county, even the governor or special investigators giving way to the prosecutor.

Judge Daniel H. Sowers, Columbus, was elected president; Judge C. A. Reid, Washington, C. H., and Judge J. H. C. Lyon, Xenia, were vice presidents; Judge Willard Wright, Lebanon, secretary, and Judge N. H. McClure, Medina, treasurer.

MINE WORKERS ENDING 11 YEAR DISCUSSION

Convention Moves To Purge Organization of Every Tinge of Socialism

Indianapolis, Jan. 23—The United Mine Workers of America, proceeded today to purge themselves of every tinge of socialism and to end internal discussion that for 11 years has disturbed their dealings in wage scale disputes.

The first step was taken when the 30th Constitutional Convention by a vote of 948 to 548 struck out from the preamble of the union's constitution the clause that the miners were entitled to the "full social value of their product."

Today the assembly was expected to meet unanimously to the constitution barring radicals from membership in the international union.

Conservatives To Gain Control Permanent control of the union will pass into the hands of the conservatives.

FIRST BILL PASSED BY 96-TO-1 VOTE

Columbus, Jan. 25—The first bill to pass the house at the present session of the Ohio Legislature was adopted late yesterday afternoon, by a vote of 96 to 1.

It was by Representative E. J. Johnson, of Lake County, and provided for the execution and recording of waivers of prior mortgages.

headed by President John L. Lewis with the expected overwhelming vote today for the constitutional bar against radicals.

The convention also was to consider today resolutions seeking to amend the constitution to permit miners to join the Ku Klux Klan; to become members of the Italian Fascisti, and to permit delegates attending conventions to debate amendments to the constitution of the United States. The latter resolution was aimed at the eighteenth amendment.

Unlimited debate privileges has slowed up the procedure of the convention, union officials said. The convention is costing the union about $20,000 a day, it was estimated.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor will address the convention this afternoon. Reports from the committee on wage scales are not expected for several days it was stated.

SEEKS ANNULMENT

Fourteen-Year-Old Child Wife Takes Refuge Under Law

Cincinnati, Jan. 25—Lucy Clifford Eibek, 14-year-old child-wife of James Eibek, 27, today had on file in common pleas court here a petition for the annulment of their marriage.

The two were married, according to the petition which was brought for the girl by her father, Robert Clifford, in Detroit in September, 1925.

Mrs. Eibek, was 13 years old at the time of the marriage, the petition stated and her husband was twice her age.

She now seeks to have the "runaway marriage" annulled under the Ohio law which prohibits the marrying of any minor under 16 years of age except by special order of the juvenile court.

Exclusive Marion Program To Be Broadcast on Feb. 5

Station WAIU, Columbus, will broadcast an exclusive Marion program from its studio, Saturday, Feb. 5, at noon. Harry L. Moller, manager of the Oakland Theater, will sing several songs; Paul E. Gomez, director of the Marion Theater orchestra will play several numbers on the violin. Hjalmar Grabel, organist at the Oakland Theater will accompany Moller on the piano. Moller and Gomez are well known to Marionites while few know Grabel. Grabel, organist at the Oakland Theater, Conservatory of Music at Cincinnati, and has broadcast from stations WJW and WASH. The program is as follows:

Mr. Moller will sing "Sunday," "I Never Knew What the Moonlight Could Do," and "Rock Me to Sleep in an Old Rocking Chair." Next, Mr. Gomez will give a selection on the violin, "Meditation" from Thais-Mas-senet, then "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" by Moller. A piano selection "If I Were a Bird" from Henselt, by Miss Grabel, who will also sing "Thinking of You." Two selections on the violin stated and her husband was twice her age.

She now seeks to have the "runaway marriage" annulled under the Ohio law which prohibits the marrying of any minor under 16 years of age except by special order of the juvenile court.

by Mr. Gomez "To A Wild Rose" written by Edward McDowell and "From the Cape Brakes" written by Samuel Gardner. Mr. Moller next will sing the popular song, "I Can't Get Over a Girl Like You Loving a Boy Like Me." The last number on the program will be given by all three.

HORSEMAN WITH CIRCUS VISITING MOTHER HERE

Charles Brown, who is in charge of the jumping stables with the Bella Photo Circus, is spending the winter with his mother, Mrs. Frank Oberer, 822 Bryant-st. He recently returned from Dayton where he purchased four head of jumping horses to be shipped to the show's winter quarters at Peru, Ind. Mr. Brown will leave the latter part of February for Peru to join the show for his fourth season. The circus will open April 16, with a 16-day run in Chicago.

PLAN TO EXEMPT
WINE IS
BY LEAGUE

Northern Ohio Fruit Men Would Amend Crabbe Act in Near Future

Jan. 28.—Vigorous opposition to the proposed amendment to the Crabbe act, which would exempt from the definition of alcoholic beverage, or wine, made from fruit for exclusive use in the home for medicinal purposes, was voiced here today by Attorney Charles M. Barhart, general counsel for the Ohio Fruit Growers' Association. The contemplated bill, which would provide that the word "wine" of intoxicating liquor, contained in the Crabbe Act, should include the natural process of fermentation of grape, or other fruit juices, without the addition of sugar, yeast, raisins, or other ingredients which hasten, aid, or induce fermentation. The fruit-growing industry in Ohio has long threatened with extinction by provisions of the Crabbe dry act, it was claimed. Many farmers and other growers of northern Ohio, however, it was stated, have been in business since prohibition was effective.

Will Be Opposed
The contemplated measure, which would amend the statute books, it was claimed, would not only allow the fruit growers to produce and sell their fruit juices, but also allow them to ferment and drink it at home without fear of being penalized under the provisions of the Crabbe act. Attorney Barhart today declared that if the proposed bill is introduced, it will be opposed vigorously by officials of the league. He pointed out that, under existing provisions of the Crabbe Act, persons are prohibited from using fruit juices for medicinal purposes, provided such juices do not contain more than one-half of one percent of alcohol by volume, and that persons possess a legal right to use fruit juices for medicinal purposes, provided such juices contain more than one-half of one percent of alcohol. Such persons, he said, may be sold for medicinal purposes when the seller has a permit issued by the proper federal authorities.

CANAL WOULD PROVE PANACEA TO AGRICULTURE

Hoover Committee Approves Plan for Great Lakes-to-Atlantic Waterway

Washington, Jan. 20.—A Great Lakes-to-Atlantic ship canal would move the mid-west 1,000 miles nearer foreign markets, remove transportation distortion, reduce freight rates on many commodities used on the farm and in industry and in general prove a panacea for depressed agriculture.

These conclusions were reached today by a committee of transportation experts, appointed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover to investigate the economic phases of the proposed St. Lawrence or All-American waterways. Hoover has approved the report.

The committee's approval of the St. Lawrence route, approved by engineers of United States and Canada was sanctioned by Hoover's committee, of which E. S. Gregg, former chief of the transportation division was to be head.

Eighteen states will benefit vitally from the proposed waterways, the experts said. They are: Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, New York and adjacent territory.

Outlining agricultural distresses, the report said that the situation has been brought about to a large extent by trans-shipment changes. Mid-west farmers are forced to pay from 6 to 12 cents more per bushel on grain to reach world markets than before the war, while foreign agriculturists, producing close to the seaboard pay but little more.

"While rates apply only to export grain, the price which the farmer receives in foreign markets is the principal factor in determining his return on the whole crop," the report declared. "It is this transportation differential that is one of the most important causes for our present agricultural depression."

The mid-west farmer has been affected adversely by the operation of the Panama Canal, according to the investigation. Cheapened water transportation brought the costs relatively close together and at the same time increased rail rates have moved the mid-west farther from the seaboard.

Chicago has been moved 236 cents away from the Pacific Coast while New York is 225 cents closer than before the war, according to the experience of one manufacturer described in Hoover's report.

Industries Migrate
"Post-war influences have caused the migration of certain industries to the seaboard and through increased cooperation of agriculture and the manufacture, both have been affected adversely," the report continues.

"The Panama Canal cannot be closed," the report said. "The railroad rates cannot be reduced without impairing the usefulness of the carriers, but a great lakes-to-the-ocean waterway offers the midwest a substantial rate of advantage which will enable it to compete successfully once more in world markets." Other conclusions were:

Estimated cost of carrying wheat from Duluth to Chicago to Liverpool via St. Lawrence route, 8 to 11.2 cents a bushel and via Lake Ontario-Hudson or All-American route 9 to 12.9 cents, compared in the cheapest present rates of 17.0 cents. When traffic on the lakes was estimated at 60,683,000 bushels a year.

Minimum depth of channel should be 27 feet, accommodating 88 per cent of all American vessel clearances and entrances, with minimum depth of locks 30 feet.

Tonnage available estimated at 10,000,000 to 21,000,000 tons via St. Lawrence Route and 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 via other routes.

Development of 5,080,000 horsepower could displace 20,000,000 tons of bituminous coal in power plant operation.

Actual Ton Cost Given
Actual cost of transportation, including operation of vessels and waterways outlay, per ton or freight moved, from Lake Erie to Colon via St. Lawrence, $1.95 and via All-American route, $3.40; Lake Erie to Liverpool via St. Lawrence $1.81 and via All-American $3.07.

Estimated in 1930 with 40,000,000 additional population, demand on all transportation facilities of United States will exceed 800,000,000,000 ton-miles.

From Far Up in the Arctic.
 Captain William Reardon, of Port Washington, Long Island, skipper of the tugboat, O'Brien Brothers, has come in for a lot of editorial and paragraphic joshing since he reported having seen three seals playing on a cake of ice in Long Island sound one day last week. We are frank to say that we did a little of it ourself. And yet it is far from impossible that Captain Reardon was well within the facts.

There can be no question—there is none, in fact—but what any number of Arctic owls have been seen along the Atlantic coast this winter from New Jersey northward. Many have been seen inland in the New England states and the state of New York. Quite a number of them have been shot and one or two captured alive. Such an invasion by Arctic owls is decidedly out of the ordinary. We do not recall ever having heard of anything like it before. No one, as yet, has explained it other than to say that the birds came south for food. But why this year and not before? What are the exceptional conditions this year that have caused such an exodus of Arctic bird life? There is nothing, as yet, to show the food theory is the right one.

And, to go back to the seals, if the birds have made the trip southward, where is the improbability that seals have made the trip? Why not the one as well as the other? And what has caused the exodus of the seals? We lack of fish upon which to feed? Hardly that. May not both the owls and seals have come as the result of some Arctic conditions of which we know nothing at present? And if so, what are these conditions? Here we have a subject for interesting speculation.

Streets of Seattle Made Safe.
 Very probably it was the rather general thought, when Mrs. Bertha K. Landis was elected mayor of the city of Seattle, that she would probably follow the course which has been so common with women executives—that she would be the city executive in name while the actual city government would fall upon the shoulders of well-trained subordinates.

It is apparent that the public was in error, if such were its view. Mrs. Landis has proved an exception to the rule. She either has initiative or somebody working under her has, somebody who is both so clever and discreet as to escape discovery. In any event, Seattle is giving its woman mayor credit for originating a plan which is working wonders for the safety of the motorists and pedestrians of the city alike.

Mrs. Landis' aim is to make the streets of Seattle safe, and to accomplish this end she has inaugurated a plan which overcomes the defects in about all other plans in which dependence for the reporting of traffic violations is placed upon motorists. She realized that the great majority of motorists simply will not report such violations, and hence she organized a "public safety council." She selected the names of 5,000 citizens, representative citizens of Seattle. Each one who joins obligates himself or herself to report by the number assigned to him or her all flagrant infractions of traffic regulations. The members, whose names are known only to Mrs. Landis and her private secretary, are supplied with addressed postal cards upon which all flagrant violations are to be noted. The organization has fifteen trustees named by her, with whom she, the chief of police, the corporation counsel and the city health commissioner cooperate. It is explained the cards are received and turned over to the chief of police, who calls the owner of the car before him and warns him to be more careful. If the motorist continues to offend, more drastic action is taken.

Here are the points which obviate the customary objection: the one who reports the violation does not figure in the case, even the one who administers the reprimand does not know him, yet the motorist is protected from an unfair charge because the mayor has the number of the one making the charge on the card and thus has a record of the name it represents, and any unfairness, it is understood by all who obligate themselves to serve in the organization, will lead to exposure.

It's the uncertainty against which the indifferent, careless and reckless motorists are compelled to go which makes the plan effective. They can spot the traffic officer, but they never know when they are under the observation of a member of the organization, and the result is that there is a marked improvement in motoring in the city of Seattle.

There seems to be a rather general tendency to refer to our larger centers of population as "great" cities. While it's the number of its citizens which makes a large city, it's the quality of its citizenship which makes a city great.

Need of Vaccination Still Present.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
 An effort is being made to induce everybody to be vaccinated. Somehow it is not enough to tell people they ought to be vaccinated. Smallpox is so infectious that nobody is alarmed about it any more. We have no particular fear of bears unless they are running around in our neighborhood. It is the same way about smallpox. We never think about the disease unless there are a number of cases in the community.

Our grandparents lived in a time when smallpox was always present. It is pleasing to know that it is not so alarming a disease as it used to be. One hundred and fifty years ago there was hardly a prominent person in Europe who was not pockmarked. All this is changed, yet we have no particular reason in America to be proud of the smallpox situation.

In 1925 there were 702 deaths from smallpox in the United States. There were nearly 32,000 cases of the disease reported. In the one state of Minnesota there were 108 deaths, so you see smallpox has not yet disappeared from the face of the earth. In countries where vaccination is unknown smallpox continues to be one of the chief causes of death. In the five years between 1912 and 1925, there were 603,000 deaths from this disease in India. Over half a million persons died of smallpox in Russia between 1902 and 1914.

Smallpox is a disease which is a terrible thing, not alone to adults, but also to the children. In Arabia, from fifty per cent. to seventy-five per cent. of all children born died of smallpox. There is a saying in India, "Never count children as permanent members of the family until they have been attacked with, and recovered from, smallpox."

It isn't necessary to have smallpox. Vaccination is an almost certain means of prevention. Of the 163 persons who died in Detroit from smallpox in 1924, 142 had never been vaccinated and nineteen persons had been vaccinated ten or more years before taking this disease. In Los Angeles in that same year of 1924, 3,461 persons who had smallpox, ninety-seven per cent. had never been vaccinated and there were no deaths among those who had been vaccinated.

I have given you these figures because I want you to see how serious smallpox continues to be when it attacks persons who have never been vaccinated. The plain, simple, common sense thing to do is to be vaccinated every five or ten years.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES
 D. R. Q.—What can I do for indigestion?
 2—What can I do to overcome constipation?
 A.—You should eat the simplest of food, avoiding tea and coffee. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.
 3—No.
 4—Have your meals at regular hours. Avoid foods unduly rich in fats and starches. Exercise and fresh air are both essential.
 J. F. Q.—Is malted milk constipating?
 2—Is it a good tonic?
 3—What do you advise for pains in the small of the back?
 4—How much should a boy nineteen years of age, five feet eleven inches tall weigh?
 5—No.
 6—Yes, it is very nutritious.
 7—Possibly this is due to lumbago. Applications of heat and massage are helpful. In some instances having the back strapped is also beneficial.
 8—He should weigh about 153 pounds.—Copyright, 1927.

Vagrant Verse.
 "SANDY"
 He walked through days with meekness in his stride,
 With fear expectant in his startled eyes;
 So through the valley there was grave surprise
 When he took strong-willed Ada for his bride.
 And with the months the rumor wandered wide,
 She said she knew she hardly drew a prize.
 His meekness was the truth and no disguise—
 That he should love her even but her pride.
 Then at a village dance, a straying pair
 Out in the dusk beheld him kiss with zest
 A girl whose name the lovers would not tell.
 The valley feared for him, how he would fare
 When Ada knew; but life is strange at best—
 From that hour on she loved him passing well.

THE RETREAT FROM WASHINGTON.

A Billion in Roads This Year.

(Youngstown Vindicator.)
 The convention of the American Road Builders' association in Chicago, attended by many experts, was an event of nationwide interest. Under the direction of these men 55,000 miles of road will be built or started this year at a cost of $1,000,000,000. It is estimated that these roads will increase the value of farm lands and crops more than twice the cost of construction and will add directly and indirectly more than five times the amount to other property values.

A machinery exhibit was held in connection with the convention of road engineers. The display was valued at more than $3,000,000. It is a matter of pride that Ohio had so large a part of the exhibits of machinery for road building. Manufacturers in this state and in Chicago led all others.

Projects proposed at this convention would have been regarded a century ago as the dreams of visionaries, but the engineers of today regard them as commonplace. Forty years ago internal improvements were freely discussed in political circles, but nothing like such a program of improvement as the government and the states are working out in constructing highways in every direction was thought of.

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.

Q. Is it true that there is a cobblestone house in Georgetown that was occupied by George Washington? G. B. P.
 A. No. 3019 M street, Washington, which is in the district known as Georgetown, consists of a two-and-a-half story house built of irregular stone blocks, not cobblestones. It is the place where in 1753 George Washington organized the Georgetown Blues to aid the English in the French and Indian wars. General Washington again occupied this house in 1791, while surveying the district of Columbia. It is now occupied by a sign painter.

Q. What clan colors does King George wear on his annual visit to Scotland? D. B. K.
 A. When the kings of England visit their Scottish estates, Balmoral, they wear the tartan of the Stewart clan.

Q. What is the mean altitude of Washington? M. A. M.
 A. The approximate mean altitude is 150 feet above sea level. The highest point, in the northwest section of the city, is 420 feet above sea level.

Q. Has any American discovered a chemical element? S. A. N.
 A. Professor R. S. Hopkins, of the University of Illinois, is said to be the first American to accomplish this. He discovered Ithorium.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.
 A young Wisconsin student killed himself to learn what life after death is like. His wife said he wanted to find out "how things are over there." Poor young man, he put all the interest and emphasis in the wrong place. Cardinal Manning was right when he said he was not concerned lest he never begin to live.

Public speakers and writers can not devote their efforts to a greater cause than the cause of romance, the cause of religious and racial unity. Until we are all willing to recognize a human brotherhood which is deeper than all differences of opinion we can not hope to become really civilized.

Somebody is worrying because in the United States one per cent. of the people own fifty-nine per cent. of the total wealth. That is nothing to feel sick about, although we are not among the one per cent. The fine thing is that in this country there is wonderful opportunity to get into that one per cent. class and own some of that fifty-nine per cent. of wealth.

The proportions between rich and poor in this country are constantly changing—for the better. It is no longer true that the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer. There are still the poor—but not so many in proportion as there were twenty-five years ago, and there are not so poor. This is a country in which everybody gets a chance.

A Chicago university professor has broken into the newspapers by saying that romance is on the wane. He claims to find little romance in the basis of marriage. The professor is unknown to the writer, but he is obviously an elderly man. Romance we have over with us—if you look in the right place. It is the changeless and eternal possession of youth. Romance is not for the elderly—but that does not mean there is no romance.

Greatness can not be bought for cities. They become great because they offer a more attractive opportunity for more people than other places. And all citizens are called on to make a contribution to attractiveness.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.
 New York, Jan. 28.—Thoughts while strolling: A drug store window displays ball suits for dogs. And tenement children cry for crusts. What a world! Still it is the best on hand. A mac dance is now advertised as an exponent of the etheral.

That Swiss nobleman with a tiny mustache. Every little bit helps. Why do orchestra musicians wear berbies? Something dignified about a harp in a window. What became of the old-fashioned turkey raffle? Lunch rooms with open fireplaces.

Smoked eel. Wonder why I'm always so polite to policemen. Gloria Swanson's roof home. The lone wolf of bootleggers—who sells only to those in the Social register. And is a chronic first-nighter. Patricians and parvenues.

The boudoir windows overlooking Park avenue. Nurse maids trundling charges along the mail. The withered smiling old man who sells toy balloons and tells fairy stories to children. The Ritz. Its chatter. And sprinkling of foghorns.

Arthur Brisbane idling before a window of neckties. That rising and falling rumbles of midtown. Like the far-away roar of incandescent battle. Lofly minarets that seem to sway in the dying sun. The overdone and under-dressed, but happy army and vulgaraires.

Dusk and its hour of light adventure. Exotic girls craving riches of life. Incredibly frivolous, strangely frail—yet as cold and metallic as steel. Ladies must live! The first lights of Broadway flaring up like glowing red coals.

And the drums of night—staccato, muffled and weird. Amid the atmosphere of easy indulgence and light banter. A stout woman and her little man burdened with bundles dragging a few steps behind. The stroll ends.

He is old and burnt out with pleasures. Yet where the lamps of night blaze brightest he is usually found. His ladies are the raffish sort with that careless calm of knowing too much of the world. The other dawn he was sitting alone in a supper club when a cigaret girl stopped at his table.

"In a half hour," she said with an effort at brightness, "I'll be home with my little babr."

He questioned her and learned she was married to a man struggling to regain health in Arizona. He rose to go. "Don't come back here again," he said. "Go to him." And he pressed a thousand dollar bill in her palm and wandered out into the night.

It is rare one finds old age contentment along the paths of Broadway. Those who survive the pace and do not face poverty are still restless and unhappy. Something big has gone from their lives and they are keenly conscious of the indefinable lack. I know an old fellow who has spent an annuity of $30,000 for ten years trying to find a little happiness among the dazzling bulbs. "The best I got," he once said, "is a blurry evening, a morning headache and fair weather friends who regard me as a silly old fool."

A bank roll draws companionship on Broadway as treacle draws flies. It is told of a man who had friends circulate the rumor he had fallen suddenly heir to a heavy fortune just to see what would happen. He found himself the center of enthusiastic attention. People who had not noticed him began calling him familiarly by first name. He was bombarded with invitations to this and that. And then one evening he explained it was all a little joke. And not one of those who had extended their hospitality noticed him again. The man incidentally with the heavy fortune, but the friendship, moved to Montana and in a few years became richer than he ever dreamed.—Copyright, 1927.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS.
 Of course, a train wreck ain't so funny, but then a lot of guys thinks the same about a mother-in-law. In fact, I know some fellows that would prefer a train wreck to a mother-in-law. And some fellows that I know have mother-in-laws, but no train wrecks. The best of wrecks is the one that runs, but your particular mother-in-law is never in any certain one of them. They spend their whole lives just trying to get the right combination of train wrecks and mother-in-law so that they can get some relief from hearing the one and hearing about the other, or vice versa, as the case may be.

Anyway, I've found the joke that makes the combination of train wreck and Scotchman. The Scotchman was waiting for a train at Grand Central station, in New York. The train was late, and this guy was watching the bulletin board where they post 'em. There was a lot of other fellows there too, waiting to see what track their train would come in on. Well, the man at the board posted an announcement that a certain train had been wrecked. The Scotchman felt terrible.

"My mother-in-law was on that train," he said. And he worried about it so that the fellows that was standing by him was sorry for him. Finally, the newsstand right near got a big load of papers delivered, and the headlines were easy to read.

"Many Killed in Train Wreck," it said, or something like that.

"Oh," says a sympathizer to the Scot, "there's the paper now, telling about the wreck, and there's a list of dead and injured. Why don't you buy a copy?"

"Well," he says, "I will buy a paper. Either I'll buy one this evening and get the racing results along with the wreck news, or I'll wait till morning and get the whole thing for two cents in the morning paper. These evening papers are three cents, you know."—Copyright, 1927.

Dinner Stories.

It was a hot day and the traffic policeman was having a busy time. In the midst of it he saw an elderly woman looking across at him. So he held up a bus, four cars, a motorcycle or two and two loaded trucks. The woman sidled up to him and the officer bent his head to hear her request.

"I only thought you would like to know that I've number on your collar is the number of my favorite hymn."

To the black veldts of South Africa there penetrated one day a traveler, who possessed many treasures the old farmer had never seen before. Among them was a mirror.

"Where did you get that," asked the farmer, as he gazed into it; "that picture of my father?"

The traveler did not explain, but gave it to him as a souvenir, and it became his most cherished possession. Every day he looked at his "father's picture," and kept it carefully locked up, showing it to no one. But there came a day when he left his keys behind, and his wife, who had long wondered what it was he kept so carefully, started rummaging and found the mirror.

"Oh," she murmured, as she gazed into it "so that's the cat he's after, is it?"

A real estate salesman tried to sell a house to a newly-married couple. Said the wife: "Why buy a home? I was born in a hospital ward, reared in a boarding-school, educated in college, courted in an automobile, and married in a church; get my meals at a cafeteria, live in an apartment, spend my mornings playing golf, my afternoons playing bridge, and in the evening we dance or go to the movies; when I'm sick I go to the hospital, and when I die I shall be buried under an undertaker's. All we need is a garage with bed-room."

PROGRAM GIVEN

Trinity Baptist Church Class Holds Meeting

An interesting program in charge of the teacher, Miss Anna McWilliams, was given at the meeting of members of the Anna McWilliams Class, Trinity Baptist Sunday School, yesterday afternoon at the church. The program opened with song "Praise Him, Praise Him," by the class and the reading of the 125th psalm and prayer by Mrs. A. S. Kreier. Mrs. Frank Tachan reviewed the class prophecy which she gave at the beginning of last year and Mrs. Anna Dwyer contributed a poem, "A Happy New Year Poem." Mrs. G. H. Morrow distributed miscellaneous readings and quotations which were read by the class members, and Mrs. A. S. Kreier read an article, "A Penny a Week and a Prayer." The program was concluded with a song, "Tell Me the Old, Old Story." During the social hour refreshments were served by members of the social committee, of which Mrs. W. N. Porter is chairman. The next meeting will be Feb. 24, at the church.

Pimples, Boils, Skin Eruptions

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. That is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S. S. S. You owe it to yourself to try S. S. S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable. "I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I lost so much weight. I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with itching and that tickled terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S. S. S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well and I am getting along fine. S. S. S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S. S. S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S. S. S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—Adv.

HERE'S GAME FOR VALENTINE DAY

An amusing game for the Valentine party is called Valentine verses. The girls draw hearts and the boys arrows from a daintily decorated basket. On each heart is written a word and on the arrows words that rhyme with the words on the hearts. Partners are found by matching rhyme words. Each couple is then given a piece of paper and a pencil and asked to write a Valentine verse of two lines using the two words for the last words of the lines. After the verses are collected they are read aloud and a suitable prize awarded to the co-authors of the best verse.

DRAWINGS FOR TOURNEY TO BE HELD SATURDAY

E. R. Team To Be in Charge of District Elimination at Kenton

Kenton, Jan. 25.—The drawings for the district basketball tournament to be held among the high schools of this section will be held Saturday morning at ten o'clock at the Kenton High School. It was pronounced today by Principal J. E. Bohn, member of the Northwest Ohio High School Athletic Association.

E. R. Team, present head of the vocational agriculture department of the school and faculty manager of the high school basketball team, will have charge of the tournament this year. He has served in the capacity of tournament manager for the past three years.

Ten teams will be entered this year. It was learned today in the tournament that will be held on Friday and Saturday, March 4 and 5. The teams entered are: Lima South, Lima Central, Lima St. Rose, Van Wert, Wapakoneta, Ada, Findlay, Kenton, Celina and St. Marys. This is two more that were entered last year.

Perhaps the most notable team to enter the tourney here this year is Lima St. Rose. A class B school, St. Rose will make its first appearance in the Class A group. The Lima school has one of the fastest basketball teams in the tourney and will make a strong bid for the championship. Lima South and Lima Central are the two other schools to be entered from the Allen County City. Van Wert is another new team to enter this year.

Galion High Followers to Watch N. C. O. L. Tilts With Interest as Team Rests

Alumni To Clash with Orange and Blue Saturday Night; Coach Eaton Must Rebuild Team as Result of Examinations

Galion, Jan. 25.—While other league teams are playing desperately for a place of favor in the league standing tonight, Galion High will be idle, but watching with great interest the outcome of the games in the neighboring rival cities.

With one victory and one defeat, the Galion team still seemed to have a chance for a good rating but since mid-term examinations matters have taken on a different aspect and the outlook is almost unpropitious.

Hersher and Schlenker two of the regulars and Davis and Marshall first string subs and have been declared ineligible to represent 11, 12, 13, on the basketball court and Coach Eaton is faced with the difficult task of rebuilding the team at this late date.

There are many promising candidates from the lower classes out for practice, but without experience and the proper period of training they will be almost valueless to the coach in rebuilding an effective team.

Alumni Game Saturday.

Saturday night both varsity teams will meet some real opposition when they oppose the forces of the Alumni in the annual student — old grad classic which is always one of the most entertaining as well as hardest fought games of the season. The girls of the high school and Alumni have met before and the girl stars of former years will play their best game in an effort to avenge the defeat.

In the feature game the present wearers of the Orange and Blue will do some real playing before getting within scoring distance of the team composed of such players as Pete Evans, Carlton, Zink, Evers, Dorn, Schreck, Kruger and Mackey who in days gone by were cheered heartily by hundreds of fans and who represent the times when Galion placed some fine teams in the race for the cup.

The rivalry between the students and Alumni is exceptionally keen and those who can not get into the game will participate in the competitive cheering which always provides humor for the annual tilt.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE DATES ARE CHANGED

Marysville, Richwood, Plain City Triangle Meet Set for Feb. 15

Marysville, Jan. 25.—The date of the debates which was to have been held between the students of Richwood, Marysville and Plain City high schools has been changed from Feb. 8 to Feb. 15. Plain City has recently withdrawn from the contest for reason that the pupils of the school have shown very little interest in the matter.

The following debates chosen from the student body of Marysville High school have been working on their parts in the debate under the direction of Miss Margate Fleming; affirmative: John Jantz, Lloyd Jodge and John Jantz; negative: Fred Zell, Norman Brown and Robert Smith. The subject of the debate will be the world debt cancellation.

LA RUE TRACTOR COURSE FOR FARMERS CLOSES

School Proves Successful in Every Way; Final Session Held Today

LaRue, Jan. 25.—The tractor course that has been running here for the past three weeks, sponsored by the Smith-Hughes Department in the LaRue Schools has been a great success from every standpoint.

Fifteen farmers in this locality have availed themselves of this opportunity and there has been eight gas engines and six tractors completely overhauled and put in first class condition.

Prof. A. P. Mills is being assisted by Glenn Springer of Galion, O. Mr. Springer is an O. K. U. man and is a specialist on tractors and gas engines.

The course has been carried on in the shop room of the school building and this instruction comes free to those taking it, with exception of the $1.00 registration fee which goes to pay off of other material that is used in common during the course.

The course closes with today's session but Prof. Mills promises more short courses for the farmers of the community if the interest in other lines is as good as it was in the tractor work.

NEATES QUINTET BEATS FOREST BY 45-16 SCORE

Upper Sandusky Five Runs Away from Opponents in Second Game

Upper Sandusky, Jan. 25.—With overwhelming defeat evident after the first few minutes of play, the Forest City basketball team pluckily went through to the end of a 45-16 massacre at the hands of Neates Chrysler, of this city at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night.

This was the second game of this season between the two teams, the first game resulting in a close score. After the first quarter of last night's game with the score standing 15 to 9 in favor of Upper, the battle became a mere farce with Upper passing the ball up and down the floor for practice before even attempting to shoot a basket.

The score could have been twice as large had Upper played serious basketball. Forest called time out several times in a desperate attempt to organize an effective defense only to have the ball tossed under the players' noses and swept from their hands leaving them amazed and helpless.

Forest took its defeat with good sportsmanship. There was little fault-finding on either side. The only change in the lineup during the game was the substitution of Hester for Zachary on the Chrysler team in the last quarter.

Lineups at the start of the game were:

Forest: Burke, cf.; Lackard, lf.; Campbell, c.; Curtin, rf.; Ossana, lg. Upper: Weekly, cf.; Dowers, lf.; Robbins, c.; Zachary, rf.; Nais, lg.

Baldwin-Wallace Band to Appear in Galion Concert

Galion, Jan. 25.—The headline for the coming month which will be crowded with entertainments and musical affairs, will be the student band of Baldwin-Wallace College which is scheduled for a concert at the high school auditorium, Feb. 1. The high school band of local school is sponsoring this appearance of the Berea musicians and are planning a hearty reception for the college boys.

Galion people are especially interested because this concert will mean the homecoming of a former popular G. H. S. student, Ray Mueller who is now director of the Baldwin-Wallace band. Mueller is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Mueller of Harding Way East and during his school days in Galion showed unusual talent for music. Besides his activities with the college musicians he is a member of a well known Cleveland orchestra and as director of the band has been very successful. Mueller plays saxophone, xylophone and piano.

The college orchestra "The Brown and Gold Screamers" will accompany the band to add variety to the program and Edward L. Grotz, pianist and Fred Bretting, violinist will be the soloists presented.

-o- The New Book -o-

BY FRANCES JENNINGS

ANNA PARISH'S new novel, "Tomorrow Morning," is a diverting, realistic little story and a direct challenge to those who adhere to the theory that no new book is clean, uncontaminated with the side of life politics is more by society.

"Tomorrow Morning" is a capable, fascinating love story, quite as interesting as Miss Parish's first successful novel, "The Perennial Bachelor." The story concerns a young girl artist who interrupts her career for one of matrimony.

Through the first enjoyable years of her married life she is the happy, energetic, busy young wife, so occupied with her domestic cares that she is unable to humor her interest in art. The arrival of a baby by the death of her devoted husband, and financial worries claim her attention and force her to neglect her art until the "tomorrow morning" of her life.

She also adopts a cousin of her husband and from then on her life is a struggle to care for the two children, her "art" being commercialized into a means of livelihood.

THE story is a pathetic outline of life and the unrelenting masterfulness of time—Kate as the beautiful young artist, the loving, comely wife, the optimistic, struggling young widow, and finally the little old woman whom life has cheated of her right to develop her genius.

Joseph Montgomery Green, Kate's uncle, is married to a would-be New York society, sophisticated, an affectionate human young girl, but one in whom the pleasures of wealth and social position have become inbred, and force her after a brief period of married happiness in the Green's small home town, to return to New York and her friends of old, accompanied by her little daughter, Hope.

After years of unhappiness, of an unsettled lonely life, which she accepted optimistically, Kate is once again the mother, the happy young girl with a little son in life. In her happiness the seed of genius, long buried within her, awakens and, in the last chapter of the book, as she sits her alarm clock before retiring she thinks, "Perhaps I will set my alarm clock and get up to paint the dawn tomorrow morning." The above words are those with which the book closes, making us feel after all what helpless, weak, unsteady creatures we are in face of the demands of life. How perilously close some of us come to being victims of the disillusioning "tomorrow mornings" of life!

CITY LIBRARY authorities announce the following new books recently placed on the library shelves: Fiction, "Black Knight" by Dell, "The Plutocrat" by Tarkington, "Delectable Mountains" by Burdett and "This Day's Madness," anonymous; non-fiction, "Memories of a Manager" by Frohman, "Famous Actresses of the Day" by Strang, "Comedy Queens of the Georgian Era" by Fyvie, "German Masters of Art" by Dickinson, "With Kipling in the Arctic" by Noyes, "Famous Actors in Their Homes" by Hamm, "Essays of John Dryden" by Kerr, "Nichelini" by Lytton, "Modern Passy" by Crothers, and "The Government of Europe" by Munro.

STORIES with universal appeal for children and adults as well as those which concern animals. These are popular with boys and girls and are certain to be a "safe bet" when selected for a child.

Among the best animal stories are the following, all of which may be found at City Library: "The Chicken World" by E. Boyd Smith, whimsical pictures of the barnyard world and its feathered inhabitants; "Karl the Elephant" by Dhan G. Mukerji, "A Dog," by Albert Payson Terhune, one of the most charming and appealing biographies of a dog ever written; "The Two Jungle Books" by Rudyard Kipling, a one-volume edition of two of the most famous books in the world for children; "Beastful Joe" by Marshall Saunders, the life story of a dog as told by himself; "Black Beauty" by Mrs. Anna Sewall, an interesting biography of a family of horses; "The Biography of a Grizzly" by Ernest T. Beton, a story which displays so intimate a knowledge of animals it would seem another grizzly had written it; "Shaggycock" by Clarence Hawkes, a book in which we learn the facts of a beaver's life and are presented an interesting story; "Silver Shores" by Clarence Hawkes, another very popular dog story; and "Wild Folk" by Samuel Beville, vivid, entertaining stories about a type of wild animals with which we are familiar.

ANGELO PATRI, public school principal, consultant in parental problems and author of books which he recommends several books which he considers especially fine for boys and girls, "Winnie-the-Pooh," "Tonty of the Iron Hand," "Daniel Du Luth," and "The Little Lucia Stories."

D. Appleton & Co. have received a catalog coupon from Iceland including international postage coupons and requesting the following books: "The Big Men" by Joseph C. Lincoln, "The Man They Hanged" by Robert W. Chambers, "Preface to a Life" by Zona Gale, and "Over My Left Shoulder" by "Bob" Davis.

Among the interesting new books announced by the Stokes Publishing Co. are "Dew and Midway," "Dritwood House" and "The Young Stagers" by Percival G. Wren; "The Road to the Temple" by Susan Glaspell; "Mirrors of the Year" by Grant Overton, a review of the outstanding events and features of American life; "Echo Answers" by Elsworth Thane; "Hula" by Armine von Tempel; "A Woman in Exile" by Horace Annesley Vachell, and "The Painted City" by Mary Bader Wilson.

Susan Eris, author of "After Noon," is also the author of a new book, "The Wind of Complication." The title of the volume is taken from a speech made in the play, "Hassan" by James Elroy Flecker, in which Caliph says to Hassan, "Trouble not your head with the tyranny of princes for you may catch cold thence." The remainder of the book has no bearing on the present text, all stories of which are troubled by the "wind of complication."

The new book, "Lighting Seven Canons" by Cynthia Lombardi was conceived from the "Sleeping Beauty"

Legend, according to a statement made by the author at a recent meeting of the Knickerbocker Story Teller's Club.

"LADIES and Gentlemen," by Irvin S. Cobb and "Congo!" by Harry Hervey are the titles of two new books to be published Feb. 26 by the Cosmopolitan Book Corporation.

Slason Thompson, who worked side by side with Eugene Field in a newspaper office for a number of years has published a biography, "Life of Eugene Field" in which he presents the noted poet as he really was and not in terms of his simple pathos and delicate humor as we have grown to know him.

The Century Publishing Co. announce the following books for spring: "J. M. of Himself" by Percy Marks, "Brother Saul" by Donn Byrne, "Black Butler" by Elizabeth Jordan; "The Dark Fire" by Eleanor Mordaunt; "The Starling" by D. J. Leslie; "Stranger from Cayenne" by Joseph B. Ames, and "The Ardent Flame" by Frances Winwar. It is whispered that the latter book will be a second Jurgon. It is a beautifully written and thoroughly pagan romance based on the illicit love of Paolo and Francesca.

Robert W. Chambers whose latest novel, "The Man They Hanged," is proving tremendously popular, wrote his book when an art student in Paris, studying painting sculpture. It was a little story of the art colony there, called "In The Quarter" and brought out in paper covers. At that time he wrote for relaxation and with no serious idea of ever becoming a novelist. But for many years now in spite of numerous strong interests and in spite of leading an active life, Mr. Chambers writes about seven hours a day without interruption, in a New York office of whose location even his family is ignorant. "I tear up nearly as much as I save," he has said. "For if I don't have a good time writing a book, I quit it."

THE E. P. Dutton & Co. publishers, have compiled a list of the best-selling Dutton books for the year 1926. The list of fiction includes, "Precious Bane" by Mary Webb, "Jonina Fodgen" by Sheila Kaye Smith, "Simon Called Peter" by Robert Keable, "Conrad in Quest of His Youth" by A. C. Carr on the Boulevard" by Leonard Asch, "White Paris Laundry" by Leonard Merrick, "Anita's Crime" by R. T. M. Scott, "Big Iron" by Charles G. Norris, "Secret Listeners of the East" by Dhan G. Mukerji, "Deceives and Desires" by Vera Whentley, "The Lunatic in Charge" by J. Storer Clouston, and "If Today Have No Tomorrow" by Olive Gilbert.

The non-fiction list includes "The Vagabond Duchess" by Cyril H. Hartmann, "The Face of Silence" by Dhan G. Mukerji, "Seventy Years a Showman" by "Lord" George Rangan, "The

CREDIT UNION BEING FORMED BY RAILROAD

Chesapeake & Ohio Group Seeks To Stimulate Thrift Among Employees

A Credit Union, to stimulate thrift and to furnish a reasonable source of credit for employees of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, has been organized with headquarters in Richmond, and soon will begin active operation.

This is the first step taken in the long-needed relief from the burden of loan sharks who have grown prosperous from their collections of exorbitant rates of interest on small loans made to many of the employees, the Hocking Valley Magazine states in its current issue.

The resources of the Credit Union will be available to all employees on the same basis and under the same general terms as in the banks. In certain other well-known and familiar systems there is only a nominal rate of interest charged and this will mean a tremendous saving in a year's time to those who are forced to make loans for any purpose.

Officers of the Credit Union are known to many railroad officials in the local offices of the Hocking Valley. They are R. S. Landau, president; H. A. Wright, first vice president; G. A. History of Hocking" by Samuel Johnson, "Sacharides" by Julia Cartwright, "Heathcote's Letters" by Dr. A. C. Kalscher, "The Life of Benvenuto Cellini" by Mrs. Gaskell; "The View of Wakefield," special edition, "Advanced Equitation" by Dorette Le Souza, "Easter on Auction" "Chevalier de Bonifant" by Anna A. Webster, "Laid, a Dog" by Albert Payson Terhune, "The Medici" by G. P. Young, "Hibblyat of Omar Khayyam" by "Benjamin D'Este" and "Isabella D'Este" by Julia Cartwright, "Queen Elizabeth's Medals of Honor" by V. Wilson, "The Surgeon's Log" by J. Johnston Abraham, and "Diary of Samuel Pepys." The popular children's books for the year were "Winnie-the-Pooh" and "When We Were Very Young" by A. A. Milne, "Tubby Bear and Other Songs" by A. A. Milne and H. Fraser-Simon, "Shen of the Sea" by Arthur B. Crisman, "Poets of the Black Death" by C. M. Bennett, "Daniel Du Luth" by Ernest T. Beton, "What Happened in the Ark" by R. M. Walker and G. M. Townshend, "Adventures of Johnny T. Board" by Margaret McFloy, and "Captain Samadhi" by Miriam C. Potter.

Canada, second vice president; L. G. Ross, secretary; James R. Casey, treasurer; T. L. Boswell, C. E. Dullone and R. D. Still, credit committee for one year.

Special Train
A special train, carrying seven Pullman cars and a baggage car, operated through Marion over the Erie Railroad today, enroute to New York. It was occupied by Mennonites from Canadian points, who were bound for South America where this group has formed a colony.

It is said that more Mennonites are to move to South America from northern points. The Erie will likely take care of additional travelers.

In Toledo
C. E. Sargent, local Hocking Valley agent, was in Toledo Wednesday in attendance at a meeting of the Great Lakes Advisory board. Agents and officials from all northwestern points attended the meeting.

Gossip and Guesses in the World of Sport

By Pat Murphy

A DISAGREABLE feature of professional athletics is the apparent necessity of the money winners giving up a fair share of their earnings to a manager who all too often is little smarter, if any, than the man he is attempting to guide to the front rank in his particular field.

Occasionally one meets a fairly bright sort of person who sincerely tries to protect the interest of his protegee. It seems that George Young, the youthful Canadian who won the Wyley gold, has been fortunate in finding just such a man to act as his counselor and guide.

Henry O'Byrne is the man with whom Young is to team. It was O'Byrne who trained and prepared Young for his epic feat. The cost amounted to more than $500. O'Byrne gambled on the Toronto youth and won. He deserves whatever reward will come to him through contracts Young is to accept.

On the coast O'Byrne has won scores of friends by his action in refusing a part of the $25,000 which Young received from Wyley. In refusing to accept a part of the rich prize he declared he had ample time to cash in on his investment and that he had done very little in preparing the boy for his great exhibition. For Mr. Young it is fortunate some of our better known athletes have nothing to do with his affairs.

Every muscle in the body, more those of the left arm, is constantly in use during a strenuous game of lawn tennis. Even the left arm receives sufficient aid to keep it in form.

BEING regarded as a 300 batman is perhaps the very best compliment a big league regular can enjoy. It is considered the select circle of hitters.

One of the biggest disappointments in baseball is to fail to reach one's goal by the selected margin. It hurts far more to miss one's objective by a point rather than being 25 away.

The American League averages of 1928 reveal the interesting and unusual fact that six American League regulars failed to reach the coveted mark by a single point. They were Shelly of Chicago, Wagner of Cleveland, Boston, Hall of Washington, Combs of New York and Jamieson of Cleveland, all of whom hit but .290.

Ten noted billiard experts, including three former world champions, are to contest in the world's three-cushion championship tournament to be held in Chicago Jan. 31 to Feb. 11.

ALREADY plans are actively forming for the Olympic winter sports of 1929 which will be held at St. Moritz. The entries for the international hockey tournament on ice include Canada, which was the victor at the Olympic winter games in 1924, the United States, Belgium, England, Czech-Slovakia, Sweden, Switzerland, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain and Poland. It is probable that Japan, Holland, Roumania, Finland, Lithuania, Denmark and Norway will also participate. The winter Olympic games will be held in the month of February under the auspices of the Swiss Federal Council.

Shooting affords one of the few instances in which women are permitted to compete in sport on a perfect equality with men. All of the championships of the International Union are open to both sexes alike.

NEXT winter California is to have its full share of post-season football games. The University of California has announced that during the holidays, a year hence, it will bring an eastern team to Berkeley. A similar announcement may be reasonably expected from Stanford and it is unlikely the Tournament of Roses committee will abandon its annual climax. These three games with the annual charity contest between stars of the East and West will provide four intercollegiate struggles for coast fans during the height of the tourist season.

The Royal Blackheath Golf Club, which was founded in 1896, is the oldest golf club in the world.

THE largest entry ever received for a racing stake has been drawn for the future to be run at Belmont Park in the autumn of 1929. Secretary Victor E. Schaumburger of the Westchester Racing association, has announced. The receipt of 27 belated nominations from the Hartzburg stud of Germany, and French breeders, has raised the total to 2105.

The Grands in Switzerland, scene of many important European championships, is one of the finest racetracks in the world. It has a length of three-quarters of a mile and a total fall of more than 200 feet.

POSSIBILITIES that Michigan will again be the battleground for championship boxing contests is seen in the announcement of Governor Fred W. Green. Michigan's new executive, that he will re-establish the state athletic board of control. The board and its functions lapsed when former Governor Alex J. Groesbeck banned championship bouts. The board was in effect a state boxing commission with a fulltime commissioner and four advisory members. Matches were limited to ten rounds but the law did not prohibit championship affairs.

Young Jake Schaefer, world's 15.1 million champion, has cut short his visit to Europe and returned home. Jake declares that the European stars were afraid to come to the United States to fight him because he never has experienced any difficulty in getting matches.

CHARLES COOK, manager of George Levine, has announced that the New York welterweight has been offered a return match with Champlin Pore Latho, to be held in Chicago in February. Latho won from Levine on a point in four rounds last July in defense of his title in New York.

Shovel Cagers Swamp Millard Clothiers, 51-34

RESERVES GIVEN OPPORTUNITY TO DO THEIR STUFF

Second String Men Get Into Game in Final Minutes

BY KIDIE SCHOENLEB
Sports Editor, The Star

Marion Steam Shovel reserves basketball saw action for the first time last night after the regulars had secured a decisive victory over Millard Clothiers of Springfield on the local court. The final score of the fray was 51 to 34.

The second stringers, including "Nanny" and "Scopy" Irvin, Andrews and Ward, were placed in the game in the final minutes and showed what they could do with a basketball. Scopy secured a field goal and Andrews dropped a marker from the foul line before the first team again went into the game.

Despite the lopsided score, the game was interesting. The outfit from Springfield was composed of a clever crew of cagers who were dead shots in the first half but had little opportunity to strut their stuff in the final period. The game was fast and featured a smooth game work of both teams with the Shovel quietest having the ball most of the time in the second half.

Win in Second Half

In fact, it was in the second half that the locals stepped out in front of their opponents. The game was a nip and tuck affair during the first half with the Clothiers in the lead in the initial 10 minutes. The half ended 20 to 10, Shovels leading.

The Steam Shovels loomed the ball through the hoop too many and all angles in the last half. The Clothiers were not in it. They were completely outplayed and began to consider themselves lucky if they managed to get their hands on the sphere. Their guarding was miserable in the final period. On the other hand, the Steam Shovel quietest displayed a slashing offense that would be enough to take almost any team off its feet. Wilson, Schwab and Bacon led in the basket shooting contest. Wilson copied five field goals, Schwab was credited with eight, and Bacon got six during the game.

Good Defense

In addition, every member of the local five performed well on the defense. Wilson tried to run his man to death and would probably have succeeded if the game had lasted a little longer. He guarded a trifle too closely and was called for fouling on several occasions. Schwab worried the big Springfield center to such an extent that the Millard player was finally given a rest on the bench. The Millard team was no soft outfit, however. They did little dribbling and passed the ball with accuracy. When they shot at the basket, it usually counted two points. They were weak on free throws, making only three out of 12 attempts. Baker was the shining light for the visitors. He connected for five field goals.

Shaw and Shaw Out

The Shovels had neither Shen or Shaw in their lineup last night and didn't need them. They gave an excellent exhibition of basketball without the Columbus players. Bolyer received an injured shoulder early in the game when he fell into a line of chairs under the water basket. He was able to continue the contest but the shoulder was a handicap.

NEW FOUR-YEAR GRID

MENU TO BE PRESENTED

Western Conference Athletic

Heads Will Consider Football Schedules

Chicago, Jan. 28—A revamped system of recruiting athletes and the new four-year football schedule, worked out by Western Conference directors and coaches after months of studious application, will be presented today at the big "get together" conference attended by three score representatives from the Big Ten universities.

The present meeting is perhaps the most important ever held in the history of intercollegiate athletics. If the proposed radical changes are adopted and found workable by the western conference schools, there is little doubt that other big colleges over the country will adopt the same systems.

The new code designed to regulate recruiting of prep-school material is the fruits of three years' effort on the part of Walter John H. Griffith, big ten commissioner of athletics. The code cites four ways of "fixing" athletes which it terms illegitimate. As a substitute

the code offers four ways of recruiting talent classified as legitimate.

Attending the conference are six representatives from each school. These include the president of the university, chairman of the board of regents, alumni representative, faculty representative, athletic director and head football coach.

Man's inhumanity to man makes still more of a wreck of manners.

FORMER CHAMPS
TO AGAIN MEET
IN RING BATTLE

PAUL BERLENBACH

MIKE MCTIGUE

Paul Berlenbach and Mike McTigue, both formerly light heavy-weight champions, will meet at Madison Square Garden, New York City, tonight. Berlenbach took the title from McTigue and lost to Jack Delaney.

Three North Central Ohio

League Contests Tonight

While Harding High cagers are batting Delaware High in the Star auditorium tonight, four other teams in the North Central Ohio League will be striving for victory. Bucyrus will be playing Mansfield on the Mansfield court and Shelby will be fighting for victory over the strong Ashland crew on the Ashland floor.

While Ashland should have little difficulty in downing Shelby High, the outcome of the Mansfield-Bucyrus clash will not be certain until the final whistle blows.

Bucyrus and Mansfield have both won victories over Harding this season.

In addition Mansfield has defeated Delaware at Delaware. Neither team has lost an N. C. O. League game and are in for first place in percentage. The lucky drops behind in the title race.

Mansfield Has Advantage

Mansfield will have the advantage of its home floor and is, according to all advance dope, equipped with a better all-around group of players than the

Crawford County school. Mansfield defeated Harding by 14 points on its home floor while the best Bucyrus could do was to slip out with a five-point margin. Harding had tough luck in both contests.

Ashland, considered one of the strongest teams in the league, is set for first place with Mansfield, having won two games and suffered no defeats.

Three Ohio State Teams
Display Wares at Home;
Cage Crew at MinnesotaWhile Basketball Team is Attempting To Shatter Its String of Defeats on Foreign Floors, Buckeye Wrestling, Gym and Fencing Outfits Will Tackle Foes at Columbus

Columbus, O., Jan. 23—While the basketball team is attempting to shatter its string of defeats on foreign floors with Minnesota as its foe, three other Ohio State varsity squads will make their debut here tomorrow. The wrestling contingent will lock horns with the scrappers of Michigan State College and the gymnastic and fencing teams will vie with those of the University of Chicago.

Buckeye basketball stock went up a notch last Saturday as a result of the United States tour of Minnesota here. It was not so much the fact that they defeated the Gophers as the improved form they showed in turning the trick. The game, incidentally, ran their string of consecutive at-home victories over Big Ten opponents to 19.

Anxious To Win

But anxious as they are to keep their slate clean on the home floor, the Ohio Stateers are equally eager to break their win column away from home. On their first two foreign appearances this winter they lost, and to offset the fact that they won every home Conference game a year ago, they likewise dropped every contest on the road.

It begins to look as if Coach Olsen finally has hit upon the permanent combination in Grim and McMillen, forwards. Farber, center; and Captain Minnesota, Grim showed his best form of the year, caging six buckets and being in every play. Cox has again won the back guard job, but the loss from illness of Harry Fenner, who also had been used there, is something of a blow.

To Play Minnesota

The return Minnesota game is the first of three consecutive games on the road for the Buckeyes. Next week they start out on their third trip, which will take them to Iowa and to Illinois. Their next game here is not until two weeks from tomorrow when Purdue appears here.

The matches with Michigan State and Chicago, respectively, for the mat team and the gym and fencing squads will be their second meets of the year. The gymnastics last week fell before Ohio State.

Wesleyan, but the Buckeye fencers defeated the Bishops. The Ohio State wrestlers had no meet last week, but two weeks ago defeated Ohio University's squad at Athens.

The wrestling contest originally was slated for Lansing but was transferred here. To avoid conflict, the gym and fencing meets will be held Saturday afternoon and the mat duels in the evening, all three events being carried for the gymnasium.

Wooster College Five

HAS TOUGH SCHEDULE

Must Play Ohio Wesleyan This

Week and Akron Next

Thursday

Wooster, O., Jan. 28—The Wooster

College basketball team faces the toughest assignment in the Ohio Conference for the next two weeks. There are only three undefeated teams in the circuit, Ohio Wesleyan, Akron and Case and Wooster plays all three and in that order.

Coach Hole's team has but one of them this week, Ohio Wesleyan here

Saturday night. However, the Wooster mentor is having a hard job getting in any practice sessions this week for several examinations are being held this week at Wooster.

Next week Wooster plays Akron here on Thursday night and Case here on Saturday.

Wooster is still looking for a new combination although five games have been played. The injury to Anderson, lengthy center who is out for the rest of the season, has forced Coach Hole to look for a new pivot man. Joloff played there against Denison and did well.

Wooster's swimming team will open the intercollegiate schedule here Saturday afternoon against Ohio Wesleyan knickerbockers.

TY MAY GO TO
ST. LOUIS CLUB,
TRIS TO BOSTONSpeaker Said To Be in Greater Demand Than Ty
Cobb

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Jan. 23—Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, duly absorbed in connection with charges that they had been parties to an alleged scandal on the ball field, may appear in the St. Louis and Boston outposts respectively this season, according to a report that reached Edward G. Barrow, business manager of the New York Yankees, today. Barrow added that, rather than see them get away from the American League, the Yanks themselves would be pleased to take either or both of the stars.

Speaker, they say, is in far greater demand than Cobb and unless the Cleveland Club gives him an unconditional release, it is not likely that Tris will be landed except at the expense of players on the flat foot.

Navy's action in waiving all restrictions is all the more generous in view of the fact that the Tigers are crying out loud for infielders. However, the general understanding is that the placing of Cobb and Speaker will be done for the betterment of the league as a whole and that their appearance in St. Louis may be on the level.

Cobb and Dan Howley have been friends for years. Edward observed, "That makes the idea look good." The same thing goes for Speaker in Boston. It is the town where he first got his reputation and Bill Carrigan is the man he worked under.

SPEAKER ON WAY TO PHILADELPHIA

Cleveland, Jan. 28—Tris Speaker, Cleveland star and ex-manager who has been restored to good standing in baseball, was enroute to Philadelphia today to attend the dinner of the veteran athletes in that city. The understanding here is that Speaker will combine business with pleasure by holding a conference with Connie Mack.

Marionites Hope To Shatter String of North Central Ohio Loop Defeats by Winning Over Delaware High; Both Teams Have Suffered Two Defeats; Joe Rinnert Still Out

Harding High's first North Central Ohio League basketball game will take place tonight in the Marion gymnasium when Delaware High comes to town. The Delaware team has suffered two defeats and is looking for a win. Harding High, on the other hand, has won two games and is looking for a third. The game is expected to be a close one.

Joe Rinnert, who has been out of the team since he was injured last season, is expected to return tonight. He is a key player for the team. The game is expected to be a close one.

INDIANA AGAIN AFTER HONORS

Indiana University's basketball team topped the Western Conference in scoring last season and hopes to repeat this year. Art Beckner, leading point scorer of the Big Ten last season, is still with the team, as is Julius Krueger, who finished third last winter. He is captain this year. Ross Sibly, Giant center, is another star. Their coach is Everett Dean.

READY FOR ARMY

St. Xavier Boxing Team Leaves for West Point Today

Cincinnati, Jan. 25.—In tip-top shape for their battle with the Army gladiators tomorrow afternoon, the St. Xavier college boxing team left here today for New York City, from which place they will go directly to West Point.

St. Xavier's defeat last week by the Notre Dame squad had not disheartened the local collegians, however, and they were out to do their stuff against West Point. Coach Joe Meyers said before entraining.

Crooks have their vanities, too; they like to be called "clever" in the newspapers.

Former Marion Athletes and Harding High Graduates Make Good in College

Former Marion athletes and graduates of Harding High are gaining prominence in Ohio college athletic circles as a result of their prowess in various sports, reports received here today disclosed.

Among those receiving mention during the last few weeks are Wallace Schneider, Jack Houghton, and Alton Morrison, all of Ohio Wesleyan University, and Wesley Griffin and Delphos Noble of Bliss College. The first mentioned is a member of a gym team, Houghton and Morrison are interested in wrestling, and Griffin and Noble are basketball men.

Wallace Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Schneider, 258 Forest-st scored for Wesleyan in the meet with Ohio State a few days ago by placing second in the horse event. He will likely appear in other gym meets, being seen in action when the Illinois acrobats will take on the University of Chicago at Wesleyan next Monday night.

Jack Houghton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. H. Houghton, 501 Grand-av, and Alton Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Morrison, 283 Daulton-av, traveled to the University of West Virginia Saturday night when Ohio Wesleyan wrestled.

Wesley Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Griffin, McWilliams-et, and Delphos Noble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orel J. Noble, Greenwood-st, are strutting their stuff at Bliss College, this winter.

Griffin is captain of the college basketball team. He plays forward. Noble is manager of the Bliss College cage squad and is evidently an understudy for the pivot position on the team.

Manager Noble has given Bliss College the toughest schedule ever encountered in the school and has called on his tried, "Griff" to come through with the fight and win the battles. The combination has worked very well so far this season and Bliss has become known all over the state as one of the best college quintets.

A week ago, when Bliss defeated Ohio Wesleyan, 31 to 25, Griff made five field goals for this team. Bliss has also defeated the University of Detroit, Wilmington College, and Ashland College. They met defeat at the hands of Ohio University.

Griffin and Noble graduated from Harding High a few years ago and are in their last year at Bliss College.

Where Good Clothes Cost Less

Many Old English Houses Being Sold to Americans

LONDON, Jan. 20.—More and more of England's beautiful old houses are being sold to Americans, says Albert R. Power, secretary of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings.

"There are signs," continues Mr. Power, "that the American companies to buy up the choicest specimens of early English history is likely to be carried on in the future on a more extensive scale."

"It is not difficult to understand a private individual owning an ancient work of art being forced to sell it to relieve his financial embarrassment, but there is no excuse for municipalities who, deliberately and without necessity, dispose of their ancient buildings."

The Building Society Council has decided the offer of $1,500 which my society had offered for the purpose of restoring their Elizabethan Market Hall.

Instead the council decided to pull down the fine old building, and the timber has been sold to an American. We are hearing of similar instances from all over the country."

Famous Sons of Clergymen Disclose "Ne'er Do Well" Charge is Unfounded

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Ministers now are not over do wells as has been repeatedly charged, the Rev. J. W. Irish, executive secretary of the Methodist Ministers' Sons and Daughters Association declared today.

Dr. Irish made public an imposing list of clergymen's children, all of whom have gained fame in varied lines of endeavor in support of his contention. The list fairly bristles with outstanding Americans.

The Association has launched a nation-wide campaign for a Methodist Ministers' Memorial Sanitarium at Colorado Springs, the principal unit in the National Methodist Episcopal Sanitarium for Tuberculosis, where sufferers of all creeds will receive treatment.

According to Dr. Irish the heavy downpour of contributions from the children of clergymen is in itself an indication that they have achieved success in a material as well as spiritual way.

Partial List

Here is a partial list of the successful children of clergymen:

John Hancock, first signer of the Declaration of Independence; Edward H. Harriman, Levi P. Morton, John B. Andrews, the Studebaker Brothers, William G. Brown, president, New York Central; John D. Archbold, Standard Oil magnate; Henry Clay, Chester A. Arthur, Charles Evans Hughes, Grover Cleveland, Jonathan P. Doe, Jr., Woodrow Wilson, James Russell Lowell, George Bonaparte, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Senators Quay, Taylor, Brewster, Wolcott, Thurman, Brier, Burton, Hitchcock and Lorimer.

One out of every five persons in New York's hall of fame is either the son or daughter of a minister, Dr. Irish said. One of every nine Presidents of the United States were so born and of the first ladies of the land, one of every four were daughters of ministers.

"The Association," said Dr. Irish, "will seek to develop a social and fraternal unity and will, from time to time, issue data concerning the descendants of ministers. This hospital unit will cost $200,000 and we hope it will serve as one of the means of bringing children of clergymen closer together."

Officers of the Association are: Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, Chicago, president; the Rev. Merle S. Farwell, Oak Park, Ill., vice-president; L. O. James, Lincoln, Neb., secretary and Dr. C. S. Woods, Cleveland, treasurer.

JACKERS AT WAR WITH GARY

U. M. RUNNERS

Incensed Over
Hauls of Cargoes by Gangs
of Road Bandits

Incensed Over Hauls of Cargoes by Gangs of Road Bandits. A "perfectly good stuff" has been stolen from the drivers as they approached this city, a stopping place before entering Chicago.

A haul has been sent up that the "honest" bootleggers won't stand for any more thefts of their precious cargoes.

So a far reaching war is talked about. A war that will bring with it all the viciousness of violence, bloodshed and death. For the run must come through the dealers in supposedly bottled whiskeys, cognacs, champagnes, brandies and sundry other beverages outlawed by Volstead, declare.

The vending army has been mobilizing, and the war may break out at any day. Rooze running rings from the Calumet district, a few from Chicago and smaller "dealers," from adjoining counties have joined forces, and are said to be holding daily conferences.

"We'll fight it out with 'em," that was the simple but none the less firm statement issued after one of the meetings. Paraphrasing the words of the famous slogan, the dealers agreed "the booze must come through."

The hi-jacking, the run runners say, caused the price of liquors here to soar skyward. Ordinarily "good stuff" selling around $5 and $8 a pint was predicted to go to $15 or $20 if the stealing continues.

Massachusetts Girls Win Laurels With Racing Dogs

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 28.—A leading woman educator has been quoted as saying that the woman of today has entered almost every masculine sport with the possible exception of prize fighting. To the optimistic sportsman the prediction that the feminine species will eventually invade the ranks of the pugilists is not a far-fetched notion. At least, not so in view of the fact that even the sport of dog racing has been taken up by two Cambridge girls.

Though women of the New England states have long been enthusiastic spectators at the dog races conducted in that section, it remained for Clara Emmebuske and Caryl Penbody to get behind the dogs and go in for mushing over the winter snows.

Both Miss Emmebuske and Miss Penbody are members of the smart set of greater Boston. They like to participate in the equal events of the season; and they also have an almost morbid love for dog racing.

Train Dog Teams.

It is because of this love of the sport that the girls most of their time during the winter months in the work of training their dog teams and mushing over the New Hampshire snows.

To Miss Penbody goes the honor of winning one of the major races. Miss Emmebuske has been a real contender for last season in several races, but she was to try to get a better start on two occasions when she had to ride a sure winner one of her dogs went lame.

Training for a race for the championship was held on Friday night at the Cambridge dog track, and the girls were there.

Most Understand Dogs.

The thrill of the race has been enjoyed in other sports but is hardly equalled. Nighttime over a hard course, trying to make good time in the face of storms, heavy snow drifts and icy trails provide plenty of thrills. The trained musher must be able to handle dogs. If they fight, then the musher, whether it be a man or woman, must separate them. Sometimes it is a hazardous business.

Care of the dogs is an important factor in winning races. Even the best racing dogs go lame when much raw ice is encountered in the trails. The driver in such cases must be a veterinarian as well as a sportsman.

Neither Miss Penbody or Miss Emmebuske use a whip when racing. It is against their principles. Proper training will teach the dogs to respond to a whistle of command when they race.

GIVEN FINE OF $2 FOR DRIVING BY STREET CAR

Frank Hunter of Thompson-st. arrested on a charge of having driven his automobile past a street car which had stopped on Davidson-st. to permit passengers to alight, pleaded guilty when arraigned before Municipal Judge Martin yesterday afternoon and paid a fine of $2 and costs. Following his arrest early yesterday morning he had pleaded not guilty and his hearing was set for 8 o'clock today. Later he decided to change his plea.

The court levied a light fine when Hunter explained that while he admitted driving past the car the act was unintentional. He said that he had attempted to bring his machine to a stop but that the brakes failed to work properly and that operation of the car was made more difficult by the icy pavement.

Simple Remedy For Bad Stomach Gives Quick Relief

No Need of Strong Medicines or Diet—Recipe Keeps Stomach in Fine Condition, Banishes After-Eating Distress

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—You may have quick and certain relief by following this simple advice.

Don't take strong medicines, artificial digestants or pull down your system by following unnecessary starvation diets.

Never hurry your meals or overeat or eat anything but within reason. Eat only what you need. They will keep their stomachs from becoming active and free from the eating acids that make or destroy the work of digestion.

And the food and water you eat should be in the proper condition. It should be pure, clean, and free from all impurities and bacteria. It should be fresh and of the best quality.

MARTIN VERBURG TALKS BEFORE STUDENT GROUP

Martin Verburg, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was the speaker Thursday morning at the chapel exercises at Central Junior High School.

Discussing the work which students should do when they step from school into the business world, Mr. Verburg brought in a Biblical reference to show that there is a place in the world for every person, and that it is up to the student to find his place in the world, where he will do the best of himself and strive to fit himself for that particular kind of work.

Disregard of 18th Amendment is Attacked by M'Adoo

CAMPAIGN FOR NULLIFICATION IS DENOUNCED

Former Secretary of Treasury
Addresses Ohio Bar Association at Toledo

Toledo, Jan. 23.—William Gibbs McAdoo, speaking today before the Ohio State Bar Association on "Prohibition, Nullification and Lawlessness," charged that disregard of the eighteenth amendment, not only by individuals but by state governments, is taking the United States down the "slippery path which leads to anarchy."

"It is the negation of the majority rule," he stated, "to set up this very thing of the minority which the majority has so justly and so wisely nullified."

The former cabinet secretary and candidate for the Democratic nomination to the presidency denounced the "campaign to secure nullification of the constitution" and "widespread advocacy of lawlessness by the opponents of prohibition."

"Not only do they refuse obedience," he said, "but they are engaged in a vast propaganda enterprise to secure nullification by the private action of individuals."

In furtherance of this campaign, McAdoo charged, numerous men of prominence are urging violation of the prohibition laws as a "duty," a moral duty comparable to that which inspired the early Christians to resist the persecutions of Christianity under the Roman Empire.

Arguments Not Consistent

"Are these arguments consistent with popular government?" the speaker asked. "Are they not rather a short-sighted appeal to lawlessness which, if repeated frequently enough, will break down the very basis of obedience to law, operate as an incentive to crime and violence, and result ultimately in the establishment, as it did in Rome, of despotic power as the only relief from bloodshed and confusion?"

At this point McAdoo called attention to statements by opponents of prohibition indicating that the eighteenth amendment was responsible for the "so-called crime wave."

"He denied this allegation, and cited figures to show that criminality, aside from violation of the liquor laws, has decreased in the past dozen years. In 1913, he said, there were 8,002 homicides reported in the United States, as against 332 in the whole of England and Wales. In 1925, there were 7,778 homicides in the United States, compared with 274 in England and Wales.

Shocking Comparison

"Shocking as is the comparison between the two countries," McAdoo stated, "the figures should indicate that at least the evil in this country is one of long standing, and that there has been a decrease in crimes of violence, at least in certain parts of the country, since the adoption of prohibition."

Regarding enforcement of the law and the amendment McAdoo told the bar association that under the constitution, as interpreted by the supreme court itself, an actual obligation rested upon the states either to pass legislation parallel to the Volstead Act, or to adopt the provisions of the Act, so as to provide competent local enforcement of prohibition.

In referring to the repeal of state liquor laws, such as has occurred in New York State and in Montana, the speaker held that in reality such repeal was unconstitutional, and the laws still stood on the statute books, because no laws were passed as substitutes for the ones repealed.

In explaining this view he drew a comparison with a federal case. The amendment, according to the decision of the supreme court, calls upon congress to pass an enforcement law, such as it did in adopting the Volstead Act. Such a law being in effect, congress would not be able to repeal it, without providing an adequate substitute, as such a repeal would be held unconstitutional by the supreme court, he stated.

Only One Legal Course

Likewise, if congress adopted a substitute legalizing the sale of light wine and beer, this would of necessity be declared null and void by the supreme court as unconstitutional, and the Volstead Act would remain on the books.

"This statement was offered as an answer to the 'wine and beer' advocates," McAdoo reiterated that there is one and only one legal course for opponents of prohibition to take, and that is the passing of a constitutional amendment repealing the eighteenth amendment.

In many states the opponents of prohibition are too ignorant to pursue this course," he stated, "because they claim that the methods provided in the constitution for amending its provisions are too tedious and complicated to afford hope of prompt relief. This claim is hardly consistent with the clear claim which they are making that the eighteenth amendment was only adopted because of the improper facility with which new provisions can be written into and out of our fundamental law."

In further denying that the amendment was "smoked" over, McAdoo pointed out that prior to 1918 prohibition had been adopted in thirty-two of the forty-eight states.

PEACHES' DAD SAYS DAUGHTER WAS INNOCENT

Declares Browning Side Attempted To "Buy Him Off" in Divorce Suit

New York, Jan. 23.—"Peaches" Heenan Browning's real daddy—her father, William Heenan, an automobile salesman—stepped into the spotlight in the Browning separation suit today with a vigorous defense of his daughter's character and a charge that the Browning side tried to "buy him off" by promising him a divorce.

"Peaches is a lost girl before she met Browning," No. 1 declared, "and she was always an innocent youngster."

Heenan, who was divorced by Mrs. Heenan in 1918, said he stood ready to take the witness stand at White Plains next week and blast "this odious assertion."

He charged that he had been offered $5,000 by agents purporting to be from Edward W. "Daddy" Browning, his daughter's elderly millionaire husband, to testify against his estranged wife and his daughter.

Heenan said men who represented themselves as coming from Browning visited his home in Hempstead, L. I., recently and offered to pay him if he would take the stand against his wife and daughter.

Browning emphatically denied he was behind such an offer.

"I wouldn't think of testifying for Browning," said Heenan. "I'd be a fine sort to turn against my own flesh and blood. In fact, I'd like nothing better than the opportunity to tell Browning where to get off at."

And while both sides in the legal battle were making plans for the resumption of the trial next Monday, when "Daddy" will take the stand, the names of the "fellows" Peaches mentioned in her now famous diary and in her letters to Pearl Mayer, her close friend, are becoming known. One is an architect, another the son of a rich underwear manufacturer, and another a student at Syracuse University.

Also, there is Joe Morris, the youth who escorted "Peaches" to a dance at the McAlpin hotel on the memorable night she met "Daddy."

Not To Call Dorothy

Whether these "boy friends" of "Peaches" will be allowed to take the stand is a matter that is the hands of Judge Seeger. It has not been shown as yet that any of these old friends of "Peaches" are willing to testify. It is understood that they don't want to that they will protest against doing so even if they are subpoenaed.

Browning said today that it has been decided that Dorothy Sunshine Browning, his 10-year-old adopted daughter, will not be a witness.

"I don't believe it would be right," Browning said, "to drag her into this mess."

Behind the Screen

MARTHA SLEEPER

JUST three years ago Hal Roach engaged Martha Sleeper, then 13, to play in "Our Gang" comedies. When she arrived in Hollywood he discovered she was capable of taking leading roles and it was not until two years later that she was cast in an "Our Gang" picture. However, the Gang claim her as one of their own and are hailing her as their first "Wampus Baby Star."

She was recently elected as one of the three actresses most likely to achieve success in the films this year, being named to replace Jean Harlow, who had to resign the honor because of illness.

Gardner James' first picture as an inspiration star is "Quality."

Pathe will release a new series of one reel Will Rogers' pictures in March. He will be billed as "The Unofficial European Ambassador" and the series deals with his European trip, showing him meeting the various crowned heads.

Rogers wrote the captions and the first three to be released will be "Dublin," "Holland," and "Paris."

Paramount's pictures listed for January production on the west coast include: "A Friend to Love," starring Florence Vidor; "Too Many Crooks," with Mildred Davis in the featured feminine role; "Special Delivery," Eddie Cantor's second screen comedy; "The Man Who Forgot God," Pola Negri's "Confession," Esther Ralston's first starring vehicle, "Sins of Women," "Shells and Shocks," with a cast of new faces; "Deer Drive," a Zane Grey western, and Clara Bow's second starring picture, "Tough House Rosie."

GETS 15 YEARS

Basil Man Convicted of Mistrusting Two Columbus Girls

New Lexington, Jan. 23.—Earl Brooks of Basal, O., today was under sentence of 15 years in the penitentiary, following his conviction by a jury today on a charge of luring two Columbus school girls to this county last summer and molesting them. Sentence was pronounced by Judge T. D. Price late yesterday.

Brooks gained statewide notoriety last fall by his daring jail delivery, when he was assisted by a 10-year-old girl who became infatuated with him during visits she made to him in jail.

ASKS DISMISSAL

Cincinnati, Jan. 23.—A motion prepared by U. S. Attorney A. B. Bernstein, Cleveland, for the dismissal of the appeal filed by Morris N. Rothman from an order cancelling his naturalization certificate, was on file in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals here today.

Radio Threatens to Kill Off All Secret Diplomacy

Either "Machines" Prove Most Complete Device To Cripple Diplomats

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The world's secret diplomat's lot is a hard one these times.

To warn against anything but open international covenants, openly arrived at in a day and generation when a statesman can't whisper a word in a fellow statesman's ear secretly enough to prevent it from being blared out via loud speaker page here within the next few minutes.

The radio, more than any other one thing, has thrown a crimp into secret diplomacy in the last few years.

There always has been more or less pretty good guessing as to what was being connected a long international lines behind the closed doors of cabinets.

More or less leakage always has been unavoidable. But in the long ago it generally was possible to keep the guessers and eavesdroppers pretty well bottled up.

Today this kind of gossip goes "on the air" and it isn't long before the whole world's listening in on it with the most powerful government can't soft pedal it.

MAIL can be held up. Cables can be cut. Newspapers can be confiscated. A short-range orator can have his mouth stopped.

But who can effectively forbid some millions of people from sitting down with our pieces on and hearkening to an announcer in some far country from airing his nation's grievances by wire-voice? Obviously it's hopeless to attempt it.

There's no means of communication which doesn't handicap the secret diplomat, but no means ever was devised which crippled him so completely as the radio.

SECRETARY OF STATE KELLOGG, for instance, has shown a strong tendency in the direction of old-fashioned under-cover methods in his dealings with Mexico and Nicaragua.

Again and again he's intimated that he was convinced the situation could be best handled without too much premature publicity.

But, throughout the whole controversy, practically everything knowable to anybody has been available to everybody as soon as Secretary Kellogg found it out, and sometimes sooner.

It's true that the public hasn't taken on as much interest as it should at so threatening an international juncture, but it wasn't from lack of opportunity.

Whatever this country has needed to be told that Secretary Kellogg didn't tell has been told from the other side of his private ear. It talks haven't had on their ear phones, that was their lookout.

Of course a listener in on the tale of war from one of the disputants in a quarrel gets only that disputant's side.

This may bias him but the other disputant has the privilege of correcting the listener's bias by relating his side also. If he doesn't avail himself of his privilege, some fault is it?

The net conclusion seems to be that the time isn't far distant when international wrangles will have to be thoroughly thrashed out in the hearing of everybody with sufficient interest to tune in on them, before they become international physical clashes.

Secret diplomacy can hardly thrive under such adverse conditions.

Criticism there must be, but not more than 50 per cent.

Hemorrhoids Disappear

No Cutting or Salves Needed to Banish Piles

External treatments seldom banish Piles and for the very good reason that the cause is inside—and circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and blood walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membrane. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful to thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money-back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Henry & Cooper's, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.—Adv.

Two More Changes Are Proposed in Municipal Court Rules

MARION COUNTY BAR SUGGESTS AMENDMENTS

Would Limit Civil Juries to Six and Fix Minimum for Appeals

Juries in civil suits tried in Marion's Municipal Court are limited to six members and appeals to the Court of Common Pleas in all suits involving $100 or more are authorized in amendments to the Municipal Court regulations proposed by a committee from the Marion County Bar Association, it was announced today.

These proposed changes, in addition to four others recently recommended by City Solicitor George T. Gern, former Solicitor Grant E. Mosier Jr. and Municipal Judge Martin, will be considered at meeting of the bar association called for Saturday afternoon. The meeting will be attended by H. E. Hill, Marion County's representative in the General Assembly, who will introduce the amendment proposal for legislative action.

New Optional
The present Municipal Court statute makes the size of juries in civil suits optional with the litigant. It provides that juries of six shall sit in the trial of civil proceedings unless a larger jury is represented by the parties involved. If such request is made, a jury of 12 has been drawn.

"After carefully considering this question, the committee has unanimously agreed that there is no reason why a jury of six is not sufficient for the trial of civil suits in Municipal Court the same as provided in justice of the peace courts," J. W. Jacoby, a member of the bar association committee, stated today.

$500 Minimum Now
Under provisions of the original Municipal Court statute, now in force, appeals to the Court of Common Pleas are not authorized unless the value of money or property at issue is $500 or more. Under the terms of the amendment recommended by the bar association committee, this minimum figure would be changed to $100.

At present, suits for any amount may be taken up to the higher court on error, but this means that whenever a verdict is reversed, the case must go back to Municipal Court for a new trial. When appealed, a suit is heard solely on its merits in the higher court without any consideration of previous proceedings in the Municipal Court. No matter what the decision in the Court of Common Pleas may be, the case is not remanded back to the court where it originated.

The purpose of the committee in recommending this change is to eliminate repeated trials of suits in Municipal Court, Mr. Jacoby stated today. This will be accomplished, the committee believes, by fixing the $100 minimum limit for appeal proceedings.

Suits involving less than $100 may be taken up to the higher court on error.

should the change be made. It is believed, however, that the number of error proceedings will be held at a low figure, as litigants in suits involving less than $100 are likely to accept the verdict in the Municipal Court as final.

The four changes recommended by City Solicitor Gern, former Solicitor Mosier and Judge Martin, following a conference held several weeks ago, would provide for crediting the city's general fund instead of the safety fund with the Municipal Court's collections from fines in city criminal cases, give the mayor authority to appoint a substitute to preside over the court when over the judge is unable to be on duty, establish uniform fees in civil cases and authorize the judge to appoint a trustee to handle wage assignment proceedings.

Expense Approval
All of these, with possible exception of the amendment relating to disposition of money collected from fines, are practically certain to meet with the bar association's approval, it has been indicated. There are some attorneys, it is stated, who believe that revenue from fines should go to the public safety fund, as now provided.

It is maintained that as police department expenses are paid from the safety fund, and fines are collected as a result of arrests made by the police, the money should be used to help pay the cost of operating this department.

On the other hand, court officials and some attorneys declare that this revenue should be classed as earnings of the court and be placed in the general fund where it can be used to pay for operating the tribunal.

COURT UPHOLDS 40-CENT GAS RATE IN COLUMBUS

Decision Has Far-Reaching Effect Upon Legislation in Ohio

Columbus, Jan. 25.—Columbus gas consumers were celebrating a preliminary victory over two local gas companies today, as attorneys for the latter were reported preparing for an appeal from the decision of Federal Judge Benson, W. Hough, upholding the 40-cent per 1,000 cubic feet gas rate ordinance of the city of Columbus.

The decision, it is said, has a far-reaching effect upon legislation planned and pending in many Ohio cities, between public utility concerns and municipalities.

Judge Hough, basing his decision upon voluminous evidence collected by a master in chancery, held the city's rate ordinance was not confiscatory, and was constitutional in every particular.

He ordered the gas companies immediately to lower their temporary rate to 48 cents, pending final determination of the injunction suit, instituted by the gas companies to prevent enforcement of the 40-cent rate. The decision further ordered the return to consumers of all excess over the 40-cent rate collected from consumers during the period of litigation. Bond has been posted to assure return to the consumers of the excess collected under the new temporary rate, should the 40-cent permanent rate be finally upheld by the federal appellate courts.

Judge Hough fixed the valuation of the gas companies at $5,024,785, a compromise between the figures of the city and the companies.

The Federal Gas Co. and the Columbus Gas Co., the plaintiffs, and the city of Columbus, were each assessed part of the costs.

"Run Down?" You Need Stimulation

This Scientific Method Restores Vitality and Nerve Force

The whole energy and vitality of the body depend on what you get out of your food. If the glands of your digestive organs are not doing their work properly, you are bound to feel "run down," tired all the time, with no ambition and no enjoyment in life.

Scientific stimulation of the glands of your stomach and mouth and other vital organs will bring back vigor to your whole system.

A remarkable stimulant-tonic has been devised for just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists and physicians have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic." Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before your next meal—see how much better you feel—the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. A few days' treatment will bring a quick change in run-down conditions and overcome lack of energy.

School Dance, Friday night, Schwingler's Hall.

CARD OF THANKS
To those who so kindly assisted us in our hour of deepest sorrow in the loss of our beloved wife and sister. We wish to extend our sincere thanks to Rev. Smiley for his words of consolation. To the singers for the beautiful songs. To the many friends for the beautiful floral offerings and to all those who so kindly donated the use of their cars.

R. G. Eckert,
Martha Durbrough.

DON'T CROWD

Don't crowd the house with furniture. It ceases to be homelike when you do. Leave a few empty spaces on which the eye may rest.

SPEAKS FOR HUSBAND
